January 2016
Keep up with Slavica online!

Slavica at AATSEEL

Thank you to the Department of East and Central European and Russian Studies and the Faculty of Arts at the University of Ljubljana for publishing the 2016 AATSEEL Conference Proceedings. Slavica Publishers is excited to have published the Proceedings and look forward to publishing future editions. Please visit the conference website to learn more about this year's distinguished conference.

Congratulations to Professor Maria Lucie Fiddler

ARTICLE OF THE YEAR: "Best Contribution to Slavic Linguistics" Professor Maria Lucie Fiddler for her work, "The Second Language Acquisition of Slavic" published in Slavic Linguistics XLIII, entitled "Best Contribution to Slavic Linguistics." Professor Fiddler has contributed to the field of Slavic linguistics for many years and is widely recognized for her work on the acquisition of second languages by adult learners. Her research continues to have a significant impact on the field.

Journals

Now is the time to renew your subscription!

Journal of Slavic Linguistics is the official journal of the Slavic Linguistics Society. It publishes research articles and book reviews that explore the linguistic diversity of Slavic languages. The journal features articles on grammar, phonology, morphology, syntax, and sociolinguistics, as well as special issues and book reviews. The journal is indexed in major databases, making it an important resource for researchers in the field.

One volume four issues per year.

Slavic Society International Bulletin includes Slavic Society news and articles, translations of Russian, reports of workshops and conferences, book reviews, and more.

One volume four issues per year.

AECOS: Regional Studies of the Russian Federation, Eastern Europe and Central Asia is a journal that publishes interdisciplinary research in the fields of history, politics, economics, sociology, and culture. It focuses on the historical, cultural, and social development of the region.

On topics, relevant to Russian, Eastern Europe and Central Asia.

One volume four issues per year.

EREGION: Slavica Studies is a journal that publishes research articles and book reviews on Slavic languages and cultures. It covers a wide range of topics, such as language acquisition, sociolinguistics, and cultural studies.

One volume four issues per year.

To renew your Slavica subscription, please visit the Slavica website or contact us directly. Thank you for your support of Slavic linguistics and culture.

Slavica Publishers

Vladimír Novák, Editor

Tel: +386 1 474 18 09

Web: www.slavicapublishers.com

E-mail: info@slavicapublishers.com

Copyright © 2016 Slavica Publishers. All rights reserved.