Preface	ix
Note on Transliteration of Names	xvii
1. Introduction	1
1.1. Preliminaries.....	1
1.2. Theoretical Background	3
1.3. An Introduction to WH Constructions	5
1.3.1. The Position of Fronted WH Words	5
1.3.2. WH Movement	6
1.3.3. Constraints	7
1.4. WH Constructions in Bulgarian	8
1.4.1. The WH Words	8
1.4.2. Questions and Relative Clauses: A Preliminary Overview	10
1.4.3. Other WH Constructions: Comparatives, Equatives, and Exclamatives	11
1.5. Organization of the Book	12
2. Word Order and Basic Sentence Structure	15
2.1. Bulgarian Word Order Is Relatively Free	15
2.2. Neutral Surface Word Order Is SVO	16
2.2.1. Factors Overriding the SVO Preference	17
2.3. Reduplicated Pronouns as Case Markers	19
2.4. Underlying Word Order	20
2.5. TOPIC and FOCUS	22
2.5.1. The Surface Facts	22
2.5.2. Subject and FOCUS	26
2.5.3. Movement or Base Generation?	30
2.5.4. TOPIC and FOCUS in Embedded Clauses	34
2.6. The “Dislocation” Positions	36
2.6.1. Left Dislocation and TOPIC	36
2.6.2. Right Dislocation	40
2.7. Underlying Order Again: The Postverbal Constituents	42
2.8. Summary and Conclusions	42

3. COMP and Complementizers	45
3.1. Defining Complementizer and COMP	45
3.2. The Complementizers of Bulgarian	47
3.2.1. Če , dali , and deto	48
3.2.2. Complementizer Position	51
3.2.3. Complementizers vs. Conjunctions	53
3.2.4. Complementizers vs. WH Words	55
3.3. The Status of da	57
3.3.1. Da in Bulgarian Linguistics	58
3.3.2. Da Is Not a Complementizer	61
3.3.3. Da Is an Auxiliary	65
3.4. The Status of li	67
3.4.1. The Syntax of li and dali	68
3.4.2. Li Is Not a Complementizer	70
3.5. An Analysis of the Complementizer System	72
3.5.1. The Clause Types	72
3.5.2. Da Clauses	73
3.5.3. COMP Realization	76
3.5.4. Main and Subordinate Clause COMP	78
3.5.5. Clauses with No Overt Complementizer: li and da	75
3.6. Summary and Conclusions	83
4. WH Movement: Questions	87
4.1. Some Basic Data	87
4.2. WH Words Are in COMP	89
4.2.1. Cooccurrence: Echo vs. Non-Echo Questions	90
4.2.2. Another Argument: Obligatory COMP Realization	91
4.2.3. The Relation of dali and the Q Words	94
4.3. Two Incorrect Alternatives	95
4.3.1. FOCUS Position Is Initially Plausible	95
4.3.2. Problems with the Analysis of WH as FOCUS	97
4.3.3. There Is No Separate WH Position	101
4.4. Multiple WH Words Are in COMP	102
4.4.1. Arguments Against Multiply Filled COMP Are Not Valid for Bulgarian	102
4.4.2. Problems with Non-COMP Analyses	104
4.4.3. The Structure of COMP Containing Multiple WH Words	107
4.5. The Nature of WH Movement	110

4.5.1. The COMP-Matching Argument Against Cyclic Movement	110
4.5.2. Multiple Questions and the WH Island Argument	111
4.5.3. Unbounded Movement and Constraints on Variables	114
4.5.4. The Binding Constraint on Variables (BCV)	116
4.6. WH + li Constructions	121
4.7. The Order of WH Words	123
4.7.1. The Surface Generalization	124
4.7.2. Towards an Account of WH Word Order	125
4.8. Summary and Conclusions	128
5. Relative Clauses	131
5.1. WH Relatives	132
5.1.1. WH Words Are in COMP, Not FOCUS	133
5.1.2. WH Words Are Not TOPIC	135
5.2. Deto Relatives	136
5.2.1. Conditions on Pronouns in deto Relatives	137
5.2.2. Deto Is a Complementizer	138
5.3. Comparison of deto and WH Relatives	140
5.3.1. The Derivation of Relative Clauses	141
5.3.2. Some Incorrect Alternatives	143
5.4. Evidence for the Analysis	144
5.4.1. The Resumptive Pronoun Evidence	144
5.4.2. Problems with Prepositional Phrase Relativization	147
5.4.3. Evidence from Island Constraints	148
5.4.4. More on Resumptive Pronouns: The NP and PP Islands	152
5.4.5. Subject Resumptive Pronouns	153
5.4.6. Implications for the Analysis of Relativization	155
5.5. The Binding Constraints on Variables Revisited	156
5.5.1. Questions Are Not Islands for Relativization	156
5.5.2. A +R COMP Blocks Relativization	157
5.5.3. The Two Kinds of Islands	159
5.6. WH Relatives and WH Questions: Similarities and Differences	160
5.7. Summary and Conclusions	163
6. Free Relatives	165
6.1. The Free Relative Constructions: Introduction to the Data	165

6.1.1. INDEF Is Not a Relative Clause	166
6.1.2. WH-Free, WH- i-da , and MULT Free Relatives	170
6.2. The Matching Effect and the Position of WH in Free Relatives	172
6.2.1. Pied Piping	173
6.2.2. Base Generation and pro Deletion	175
6.2.3. Further Problems with the Head Hypothesis	177
6.2.4. Evidence from Multiple Relatives	178
6.2.5. Left Dislocation Free Relatives	181
6.2.6. The COMP Accessibility Analysis	185
6.2.7. WH Is in COMP	187
6.3. A Closer Look at MULT Free Relatives	189
6.3.1. An Incorrect Analysis	189
6.4. Free Relatives and Headed Relatives	193
6.4.1. Free Relatives Are NP and +R	193
6.4.2. There Are No Headed MULT or WH- i-da Relatives	195
6.4.3. Dummy-Headed Relatives	197
6.4.4. There Are No deto -Free Relatives	199
6.5. The INDEF Constructions Once More	201
6.6. Summary and Conclusions	207
7. Conclusion: Bulgarian and Syntactic Theory	211
7.1. Summary of Rules	211
7.2. Theoretical Implications of the Analysis	214
7.2.1. Word Order	214
7.2.2. Complementation	215
7.3. Implications for a Theory of WH Constructions	216
7.3.1. Unbounded WH Movement	216
7.3.2. Multiple WH Movement and the Structure of COMP	217
7.3.3. Islands	219
7.3.4. Free Relatives and the Head Hypothesis	220
7.4. Conclusion	221
